This issue focuses on the George's prolific work with the Moonlight Players of Clermont, Florida. George himself has appeared in productions with the Moonlight players, and has produced a prolific amount of playbill covers for the group.

From their website: https://moonlightplayers.com

The Moonlight Players (a non-profit organization), was founded by Jan Sheldon and Sara Ackers in the city of Clermont, FL. With a monetary birthday gift from Jan's dad, the original Moonlight Players decided their first production would be The Sound of Music, directed by Jan and music directed by Sara. Other members involved in that very first play were Chris Walsh and Lee Matheny on light design, and Diana White and Bonny Rae on costume design. From then on, the Moonlight Players performed at a variety of places around the Clermont area, including South Lake High School's auditorium, The Lakeridge Winery, The Mulberry Inn, and Jenkins Auditorium. Their love for theater remained strong and intact throughout all these venue changes, until the group finally found their home in 1999, an old car shop renovated into a theater over the years, and called it The Moonlight Warehouse Theater.

Our shows are sponsored in part by George Pérez. George is an internationally known award-winning comic book artist whose work has appeared in the pages of all the major comic book companies and other magazines. He's been the subject of several printed retrospectives and biographies and is recognized as one of the true giants in his field. George is also a great lover of the theatre and performed in or directed several community theatre productions in New York before moving to Florida in 1995, where he lives with his wife, Carol Flynn, a fellow theatre lover and dance instructor specializing in ballroom and belly dance. George was so impressed by the Moonlight Players that he volunteered to design [...] show artwork for the last several seasons. George returned to the stage to be in the Moonlight Players' productions of Li'l Abner, The Mikado and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. Thank you, George!

About our Cover:
This issue's cover features a collage hand-picked and curated by George himself, to showcase the vast array of different designs and concepts for the Moonlight Players' many productions.

Hi Pérez fans!

Welcome to a new issue of PACESETTER: The George Pérez Magazine, For Pérez Fans By Pérez Fans. It's hard to believe it has been three years since the last issue of PACESETTER. The magazine has slowed down over the last several years. Honestly, I've been running out of new and original ideas for themes and feature. Our goal at PACESETTER is to only put out the best quality product that George and his fans would be proud of. So with that noted, if you would like to be involved in a future issue (articles, artwork, theme idea, etc...) drop me a line at TLorenzp@yahoo.com. For anything that we use, you'll receive credit in the issue, and you'll also receive a free copy. George receives every issue.

This issue's theme is something that is near and dear to George's heart: the Moonlight Theater. George has been involved with the group for many years, has contributed countless amount of art (as you can see from this very issue), set designs, directing and even starring in several production. George d all this pro bono, and if you ask anybody that knov George, that is the way he is: always giving back.

George has always been big at giving to vario charities and causes. Well, PACESETTER wants do our small part. $1.00 for every issue sold will g to support the Moonlight Theater Group. We wa to keep George's tradition of giving alive and bene a good cause.

We'd love to hear what you think of the issu With the grim reality of the state of the world at t moment, I hope showcasing George's great artwo will put a smile on your face, even if it's only fo moment.

Thanks for the support

Tony Loren

A TRUE SUPER-FAN

by Jan Sheldon, founder of The Moonlight Players

You all know what a super fan is because you are super fans of George Pérez! But I'll bet you didn't know that George is also a super fan. He is a fan of a little community theatre called the Moonlight Players. The Moonlight Players perform in a small warehouse located in downtown Clermont, Florida. It is not just a little community theatre that "puts on plays" but it is a place where many have met and married, seen their children become little stars on the stage and where they have even memorialized their loved ones. It has been a gathering place, a haven, and a family to many people.

My name is Jan Sheldon. I founded the Moonlight Players in 1994, almost 26 years ago. I was also the director of the first show that George attended in 2008, Guys and Dolls. I was confused by all the backstage excitement of my much younger cast. Obviously someone very important was in the audience. I asked, "Is it a Beatle?" Not wanting to be "unhip" I asked, "or Justin Timberlake?" "It's George Pérez?" they all swooned! I had never read a comic book and had no idea who that was. I also had no idea what an effect George would have on my Moonlight family and me.

One of our Moonlight families, the Canavans, had invited George to come see them perform that day. If you know anything about George, you know how enthusiastic he gets. After the show, George was so gracious and complimentary to my cast and me. He was and still is the greatest person to have in an audience. He has missed very few shows since that first one. He, like most, spoke of their admiration for what we had done and expressed an interest in getting involved. And boy did he!

George has graced our stage in many productions, giving many outstanding performances. Most notable were General Bullmoose in Lil Abner, Poo Bah in Mikado and Jacob/Potiphar in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat that I directed. Not only did George perform in Joseph…, he also designed a comic book set for me. We had pyramids, camels, sheep and even a little black sheep. After that particular show we auctioned off George's set pieces and the money went back to the theatre.

This was not the only way George has supported our theatre. From those days until recently, all of our programs and t-shirts (I have a quilt made out of my George Pérez t-shirts) were designed by George Pérez! What a feather in our cap it has been to have the most beautiful and interesting programs. They have been such keepsakes for all of our actors, especially when George used their faces on the cover. I have a program and a t-shirt with my son's face on it that I will cherish forever. George also created extra artwork of my Romeo and Juliet cast, an actual comic of the Lil Abner cast with our actors as the characters and a beautiful poster of my Joseph… cast! George gave me the original drawing of his poster of Dirty Rotten Scoundrels I directed. He often took the extra programs we had left over and signed and sold them at Comicons. Many of our actors were thrilled when George made them comic book characters. Billy McCoy had a large part in one of the Superman books. Billy is one of our actors who met and married his leading lady, Tracy, and now they have two children who have started acting at Moonlight. I, myself have never bought comic books until my friends appeared in them. I was even cast as one of the priestesses in his new series, Sirens. The ultimate thrill for me, personally, as the founder of Moonlight was being included in his book Art of George Pérez. There is a whole chapter dedicated to the Moonlight Players and the artwork of his programs.

Through George's generosity we have been able to produce difficult and expensive productions such as My Fair Lady and Beauty and the Beast. He has donated money to help with our costumes and sets, and has generously treated many of our casts to parties we could not have afforded. With cuts in the arts and without George's generosity who knows where we might have been these past 12 years. He is our very own super fan and we all love and adore him!

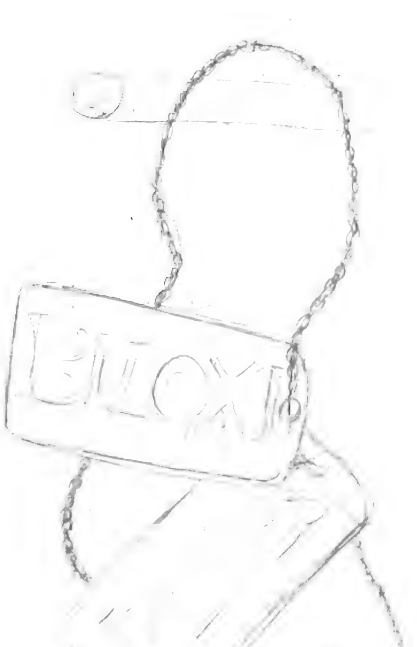
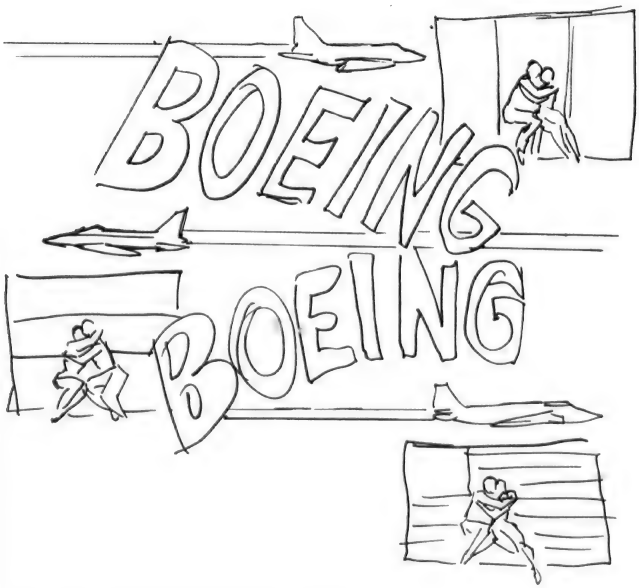
UNUSED GALLERY

Over the next few pages, we present some unused sketches that George had worked on for products that, for one reason or another, were not completed. Each one promises a tantalizing glimpse at an image that could have been, but hasn't... yet?

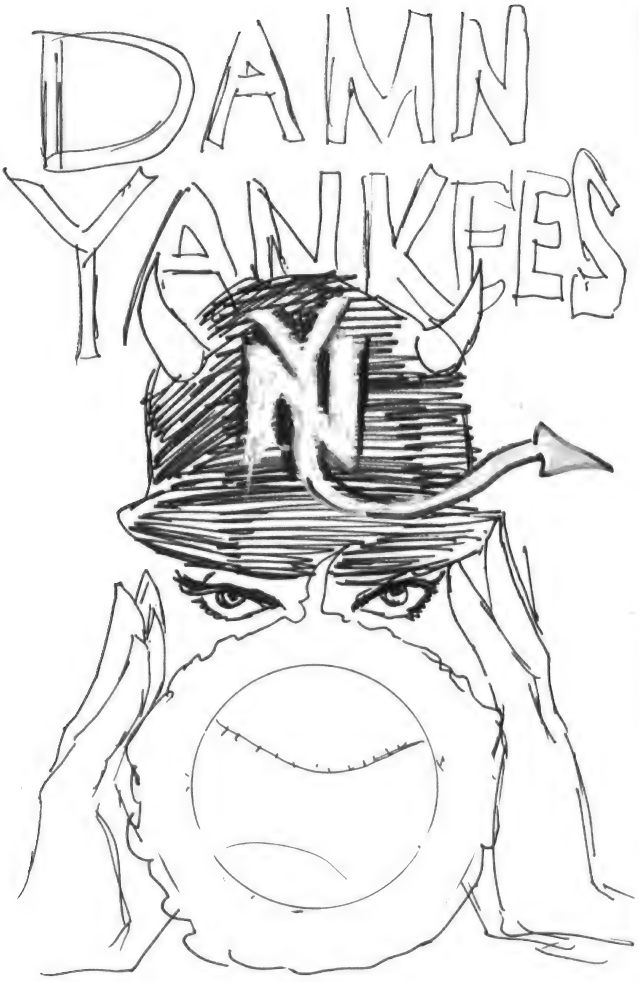


The military Dogtags have the impressed text for BILOXI BLUES upon them, as a baseball passes through the chain.

With these two sketches, we see the composition and layout of what promises to be an exceptionally striking cover image!



Check out the composition of this layout. We have three jets passing in different directions, each one staggered a little further out to the edge, interspersed with a romantic couple against a different nation's flag.



Imagine how powerful—and intoxicating!—this cover would turn out to be.

Over the next several pages we present to you some images that show the steps George takes to produce the final covers presented in earlier pages, including sketches and completed drawings.

From composition and a rough sketch (below) to final layout (left), we can see the steps taken to produce the actual cover art.
